FOOD POLICY COUNCIL SETS FIRST PUBLIC HEARING Members to Welcome Public's Input

PORT JEFFERSON, NY – Deputy Presiding Officer Vivian Viloría-Fisher (D-Setauket) today announced Monday, October 24, 2011 at 4:30 PM as the date and time of the Suffolk County Food Policy Council's first public hearing. The meeting will be held in the Rose Y. Caracappa Auditorium of the William H. Rogers Building, 725 Veterans Memorial Highway, Smithtown, New York.

The sixteen member Council is comprised of leaders from across Suffolk County in areas of governmental service, food production and distribution, food equality, and agriculture. The group has been established to make recommendations to the Suffolk County Legislature on policies related to:

1. ensuring that schools and other public institutions in Suffolk County serve healthy, delicious meals and give preference to purchasing from local farms;
2. improving access to local government agencies which support the stability of local food infrastructure;
3. developing policies that encourage success in small and midscale farming ventures, decrease exposure to hazards and support fair labor practices;
4. utilizing a broad range of public investments and tools in Suffolk County to increase public access to healthy food and decrease inequities across race and class which contribute to food insecurity and compromise health;
5. implementing steps to eliminate artificial pesticides and fertilizers, genetically modified organisms, and other contaminants that disrupt ecosystems and human health;
6. helping to promote local and regional sustainably grown, harvested or produced food within the food system, and encourage local businesses to distribute and promote these foods in every community, especially in the underserved communities of Suffolk County; and,
7. encouraging the use of locally grown products for food distribution and processing.
